

Hey Google – Let Me Talk to Progressive

Progressive is first insurer to assist Google Home Customers

MAYFIELD VILLAGE, Ohio — March 27, 2017 — Progressive (NYSE: PGR) is now offering money-saving auto and home tips to Google Home customers, becoming the first insurer on Google's voice-activated speaker powered by the Google Assistant.

Customers of Google Home assistant simply say: 'Google, let me talk to Progressive' and they can get great answers to a wide range of questions on topics from car buying and insurance, to home buying, moving, curb appeal, and smart home technologies.

"While most people don't think about insurance much, when they do have a question, Progressive wants to make it as easy as possible for them to get help by being available where, when and how they want to interact with us," said Dan Witalec, Customer Acquisition Leader, Progressive.

"When we realized the popularity of voice-activated assistants like Google Home, we wanted to work with Google to be helpful. We've got some nice content to start, but we'll also monitor the types of questions Google Home customers ask us and make adjustments as needed."

If you are interested in what Progressive will provide to Google Home customers but don't have a device, or like to get your information the old-fashioned way, the same helpful content is available on www.progressive.com.

The Progressive team is excited for this opportunity to offer help through this hands-free technology as the first insurer working with Google Home.
